AMERICAN FEDERATION OF STUDIO MUSICIANS AND SOUND ARTISTS
Northern District Council — Local 512
2200 Ferrisway Boulevard, Suite 900
Rockvale, Illinois 60041

Date: January 6, 2025

To: U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services
Re: Written advisory opinion — O-1B petition
Beneficiary: Mireille Sato-Adeyemi, professionally known as MIRA SATO
Petitioner: Kestrel Line Artists, LLC
Occupation: Composer, record producer and live electronics performer for staged work

To Whom It May Concern:

1. Who we are and why we are qualified to comment.

The American Federation of Studio Musicians and Sound Artists ("the Federation") is a labor organization representing approximately 24,000 composers, arrangers, recording engineers, record producers, sound designers and live electronics performers working in the United States. The Northern District Council, Local 512, represents approximately 3,100 of those members in Illinois, Wisconsin and Iowa, including the sound and electronics departments of Ostrander Contemporary Opera and Verity Hall. The Federation negotiates the standard agreements under which composers and sound designers are engaged by opera companies, dance companies and theatrical presenters in this jurisdiction, and it maintains a standing Consultation Committee of five working members who review advisory opinion requests in the composing, producing and sound design occupations. The occupation described in this petition falls squarely within the Federation's jurisdiction and within the Committee's own working experience.

2. What we reviewed.

The Committee reviewed the petitioner's support letter dated January 21, 2025 in draft, the beneficiary's professional biography and credit list, the programme material for Tidewater Requiem (Ostrander Contemporary Opera, 2023) and Nine Rooms Facing North (Blue Lantern Dance Company, 2021), the citation for the 2023 Thornfield Prize for Composition in New Media, the citation for the 2022 Golden Compass Award of the Nordlys Elektronika Festival, published reviews in The Ardenmoor Review and Sonics Quarterly, and the proposed engagement agreements and itinerary for the period September 2025 to September 2028. Two Committee members attended a performance of Tidewater Requiem during its premiere run.

3. The beneficiary's ability and achievements.

In the Committee's professional judgment, Ms. Sato-Adeyemi's standing in the field is substantially above that ordinarily encountered among composers and sound designers working in staged music. Three points support that view. First, she holds title-page billing as composer and sound designer on a mainstage opera production of a company with a sixty-year producing history, a level of credit our members reach only after establishing a national reputation. Second, the 2023 Thornfield Prize is decided by blind jury among an international nomination pool and is regarded within our membership as the leading award for composition in staged new media; several of our own members have been shortlisted for it and none has won it twice. Third, her practice of operating her own electronics live from the pit, rather than delivering fixed playback, is unusual in this repertoire and has been the specific subject of critical writing in the trade press. The Committee regards her as a leading practitioner in this particular corner of the field.

4. The nature of the duties to be performed.

The Committee understands that during the requested period the beneficiary will work in the United States as composer, sound designer and live electronics performer on a series of separate engagements arranged through the petitioner as agent. The duties comprise: composing original scores for staged productions; designing and building the electronic sound systems for those productions; rehearsing with companies, orchestras and dancers; operating live electronics in performance; and supervising recording sessions of the resulting works. These are customary duties for the occupation as our members practice it, they are of the kind performed by our members under Federation agreements, and they require the personal artistic contribution of the individual named.

5. Effect on our members.

The engagements described are individually contracted artistic engagements tied to specific productions. They do not displace a member of this Federation, and the compensation terms shown to the Committee meet or exceed the applicable Federation minimums for composers and sound designers in this jurisdiction.

6. Our opinion.

Having considered the material described in paragraph 2, the Federation does not object to the approval of this petition. This letter is an advisory opinion issued under 8 CFR 214.2(o)(5) and is valid for the petition identified above.

Sincerely,

Auberon T. Vasquez-Ndiaye
